

Shaw Planing Mill Burned by Fire of Unknown Origin

Loss Estimated at $5,000 When Mill Is Completely Destroyed--Other Buildings In The Vicinity Threatened By Spectacular Blaze.

Damage estimated at over $5,000 resulted from a blaze, of unknown origin, which completely destroyed the John Shaw planing mill on South Second street and damaged barns and small out buildings in the vicinity Thursday night at 10:30 o'clock. The building, about $800 worth of lumber stored there and all of the machinery are a total loss and the fire department worked for four hours before the last spark had been extinguished.

ORIGIN IS UNKNOWN

The origin of the blaze is a mystery it having been discovered by a man who happened to pass along Mulberry street. Fifteen minutes before the alarm was turned in, George Stewart passed the planing mill and saw no signs of a blaze. The dry lumber burned like tinder and it was but a short time until the blaze cast a glow which could be seen for miles around. Two streams of water played upon the blaze but, other than preventing other buildings in the immediate vicinity from catching fire, nothing could be done.

Blaze Communicates To Barn

A barn across the alley from the mill, belonging to Mr. Shaw, started to blaze but volunteers saved the structure. Several other small buildings were threatened by the blaze.

Mr. Shaw said last night that he had no idea as to the origin of the fire. "We have not been working at the mill since Monday," he said. "I did not know of the blaze until it had gained considerable headway and I could see the reflection of the blaze from my home."

Insurance to the amount of $3,300 was carried on the planing mill with the Gray insurance agency.

How Many Want Vote

In an effort to meet the argument that "women will get to vote when the majority want it" the Ohio Suffrage Association with headquarters at Warren, O., is resorting to a canvass of the feminine sex in this and other counties asking that all those in favor of suffrage sign and return certain slips which are being provided for the purpose. It is a sort of an endless chain affair in which each one that signs pledges herself to ask every woman she meets to sign a slip.

An expression of the feeling of the women on the matter is desired by May 1. The result will be awaited with interest as Coshocton has many suffragettes who are loyal to their cause.

School Children Contribute Food For War Victims

Thursday afternoon the Coshocton public school children made their contribution to the Belgian relief. Fourteen hundred strong, they marched from the various grades to the relief station established by J. W. Cassingham on North Sixth street near Main.

The contributors consisted of bags of beans, rice, corn meal and cans of condensed milk. Practically everyone of the students in the schools contributed and the supplies will go into the freight car to be filled with supplies from Coshocton county.

The appeal for the contributions was made by Superintendent Bryant through the teachers in each building and throughout the different grades. Before the students entered the building, they lined up and saluted the flag.

Local Member Stands Alone

Attorney F. E. Pomeroy, of this city, who is a member of the board of trustees of Ohio State University, was the only member of that body to vote in favor of retaining Prof. Homer C. Price, Dean of the college of agriculture.

The matter has stirred up considerable comment in university circles and in Columbus.

School Promotion Exercises

The annual promotion of the grade schools of Virginia township, were held Thursday at the Milford church. Prof. A. A. Barton, district superintendent, addressed the pupils and there was a program of songs and recitations given by members of the various schools. Six schools were represented, the teachers of who were: Willow Brook, Orval Smiles; New Moscow, Wade Patton; Wrights, J. L. Perkins; Holdsworth, Lee Wright; Russell Wright; Chestnut Grove, Esther Beall and Chestnut Ridge, Grace Tinner.

Woman's Case Is Held Over

When arraigned before Mayor Staats Thursday morning on a charge of attempting to provoke a breach of the peace, Mrs. Olive Taylor, wife of John Taylor, of 720 Pine street pleaded not guilty. The charge was filed by John Lane.

The case was held over until in the afternoon when a hearing was given and inasmuch as the mayor did not care to dispose of the case until he had further light in the matter, the case was continued.

Lane alleges that Mrs. Taylor made remarks derogatory to his character on Tuesday, April 27, and that these remarks were made in the presence of neighbors. It appears that the Taylor woman interfered in some family trouble and so got into trouble herself.

OBSTACLE TO SETTLEMENT IS REMOVED

Agreement Reached In Matter of Arbitration--Gallagher Amendment May Prove An Impossible Barrier.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 29.—With one big stumbling block out of the way and another hinging upon possible action by the legislature, the third day's sessions of the joint scale committee of Ohio coal operators and miners opened here today with prospects of peace still rosy.

The disputed point, which has been obliterated is that of a plan for arbitration of future disagreements between the two factions. Late last night the miners' leaders accepted the arbitration proposals of the operators, with slight alteration, and thereby smoothed out one of the main difficulties which have faced the conference.

The agreement provides that future disputes which cannot be settled in any other way shall be referred to an arbitration board consisting of one representative from each side and one chosen from the three members of the industrial commission of Ohio, the decision of the arbitrators to be binding on both sides.

Deadlock on Screen Matter. The second big moot point which is dependent upon action of the legislature is the fate of the Gallagher amendment to the Green screen coal law, now pending before the general assembly at Columbus.

Semi-Annual Session Of North-east Ohio Conference is Opened

The Seventy-eighth semi-annual session of the Wooster district of the North-east Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, was opened at three o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Warsaw M. E. church.

Worthington B. Slutz, superintendent of the district, presided over the services of the day. Following the brief address by the superintendent of the district and the organization of the session, Dr. J. S. Seerest, of this city, spoke at 3:40 p. m. on "The Sluggard of the Ohio Methodist Men's Convention." His talk brought into the realization of the listeners the deep and sincere purpose that inspired the convention at the capital city. The rest of the afternoon was taken up with the reports of the representatives of the Boards and Institutions, and the transacting of minute business.

Evening Session. The evening session was opened with a praise and prayer service

Extra Guard For Slayer

Lima, O., April 29.—An extra guard has been placed over Dorance Riddle, self-confessed slayer of Susie Coleman, 16, since messages were received last night announcing the suicide of Pauline Snowden at her home in Nashville, Tenn.

Pauline is the girl sought for several days after the murder of Susie Coleman, police believing she might have some direct connection with the case. She shot herself in front of a mantel on which stood a photograph of Riddle, whom she had never met but with whom she had exchanged many letters and photographs.

As the body of the Snowden girl was being taken to the morgue, Riddle was reading a letter from her in the county jail last night. In this letter she spoke in pleading terms of him and said if he got out of his trouble his first aim would be to visit her in Nashville.

Police are now working on the theory that the love between Riddle and the Snowden girl was deeper than at first believed and might have direct bearing on the murder.

The operators say there can be no settlement unless the Gallagher amendment is passed. The miners say the passage of the amendment renders a settlement impossible.

The Gallagher amendment permits operators to make contracts with miners on either a run-of-mine or screen basis. The present Green law makes mine-run contracts compulsory, the miners contend.

Rules Governing Strikes. A set of rules governing possible future strikes of which the arbitration agreement is a leading feature, as adopted last night, provide among other things that no strike shall be called at any mine except for failure to pay on the regular pay day without explanation and that fines may be levied on miners violating this rule or upon operators responsible for any lockout.

National President John P. White of the United Mine Workers of America, chairman of the scale committee, today declared substantial progress had been made, but would offer no opinion on the ultimate outcome of the conference.

Delegates expressed the belief that the conference will last at least two days longer.

Many Present. Only a third of the ministers of the district were present for the opening of the session, but the others it is expected will arrive today. There are about fifty ministers in the district and it is expected that when the morning session convenes at nine o'clock this morning, that all will be present. The program for the day will be carried out as printed in a former issue.

Third Death In Shepard Family Home

Mrs. Minnie Shepard, aged 54, widow of the late Thomas Shepard died at her home on South Sixth street Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock after an illness of little more than seven weeks.

Immediately following the death of her husband, seven weeks ago, Mrs. Shepard was taken ill from pneumonia which later developed into typhoid fever and other complications. She grew steadily worse until death claimed her Thursday morning. This is the third time in two months that death has occurred at the Shepard home on South Sixth street. Just two weeks after the death of Mr. Shepard, Mrs. Shepard's mother passed away.

Mrs. Shepard was born in Weston, W. Va., in 1861, and came to Coshocton in 1883. She became a member of the Shiloh Baptist church and has been one of its staunchest members. One daughter, Mrs. Anna Watson, of Lewisburg, W. Va., and a granddaughter, five sisters and two brothers still survive.

The funeral services will be in charge of Rev. Charles Isom at the Shiloh Baptist church Sunday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. Interment will be made in the South Lawn cemetery.

Strikers Hurl Stink Bombs In Crowded Theatre

Chicago, April 29.—Efforts to arbitrate the strike of 16,000 carpenters in this city was resumed today and hope was expressed by representatives of both sides that some definite action toward a settlement of the labor dispute could be reached.

An agreement between the carpenters and their employees would result in 150,000 building trades workmen returning to work on $20,000,000 worth of building construction, which has been tied up by the carpenters' strike.

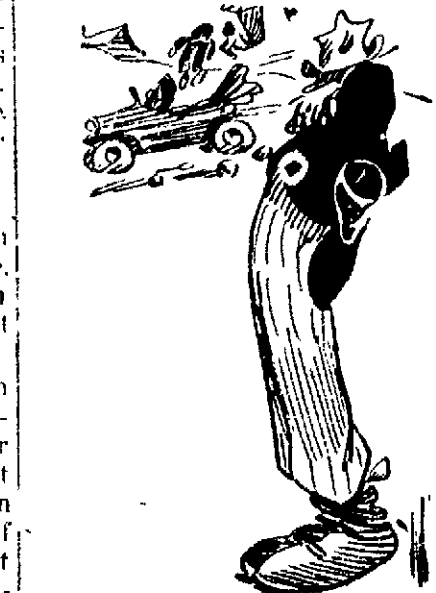

The police were notified today that "stink" bombs were hurled into a crowded theatre on the south side last night. Non-union painters have been employed in the theatre.

Nine Members Concur In Verdict Against Wolfords For $500--Jury Deliberates Three Hours--Suit Result of Fight.

After deliberating for almost three hours, a jury in common pleas court, returned Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock with a verdict for $500 for the plaintiff in the case of Albert C. Nichols against Moses and Edgar Wolford. Nine members of the jury concurred in the verdict which was for the full amount sued for. The defendants said that the case would be carried up.

Result of Fight.

The plaintiff brought suit as a result of an alleged fight at Pleasant Valley several months ago when he claims he was assaulted by Edgar Wolford and badly injured. The defendants claimed that Nichols was taking some mine equipment from their mine and that Edgar Wolford only acted in self defense when Nichols struck him with a heavy piece of iron.

Immediately after the alleged fight three different proceedings were instituted by Nichols—an assault charge against Edgar Wolford; another charge against Edgar Wolford of furnishing a newspaper with false and libelous news, and the civil action for $500 damages.

Bitter Battle.

The trial of the case commenced Wednesday morning and a large number of witnesses were examined for each side were. The defense introduced a number of witnesses who testified concerning the plaintiff's general reputation in the community in which he resides. This portion of the evidence was marked by much wrangling between attorneys.

Attorneys W. S. Merrell and Levi Williams represented Nichols and Attorneys Wheeler and Adams represented the Wolfords.

Proceedings Carried On In Four Languages

The Hague, April 29.—The real important work of the International Women's Peace Congress was undertaken today when the committee on resolutions held the first of a series of meetings at which resolutions will be drawn up to be sent to all governments of the civilized world. Miss Jane Adams, of Chicago, was chosen president of the conference and has received a number of cablegrams of congratulations.

"I am sure we will accomplish something but just how much we can do remains to be seen," said Miss Adams.

The proceedings are being carried on in four languages.

A conspicuous feature of the congress is the absence of flags. Most of the American women have already been heard by the convention pamphlets containing the speeches against war are being prepared for international circulation.

Asks Further Investigation Of His Case

Through his attorney, J. C. Adams, Andrew Stewart, Jr., asked for a reconsideration of his case heard before Mayor Staats a few days ago.

At that time Stewart was assessed a fine and costs which amounted to $6.40 after standing trial for driving an auto without the proper tags displayed. Stewart, it is said lost the tag last Thursday and was notified the same day by Officer Courtright. Sunday Officer Fretague saw the machine again without the tags. Stewart then learned that the tag had been found at Keene and went there after it. During the period from Thursday until Sunday he had used the car without tags and this resulted in the fine.

The mayor informed Attorney Adams that he was willing to hear any additional facts in regard to the case which might shed a different light upon the matter.

Tastwel Coffee Still In The Lead

We are having so many inquiries as to the result of our rhyme contest, we publish it again for the information of those who are interested and trust this notice may be received as a satisfactory answer. We hope our new contest on Woman's Suffrage in which we are offering five prizes may be as well received.

On March 11th we mailed checks aggregating $100.00 to the following persons: Russell K. Harris, 517 Steubenville avenue, Cambridge first prize, $50.00; Miss Katherine Gerwick, 540 Adair avenue, Zanesville, second prize, $30.00; Chas. Moorehead, Junction City, third prize, $20.00.

The prize winning verses follow:
The First Prize.
Up in the mountain far from town
There lived an old hermit of great renown
Whose life was sad and of no use,
Just as the life of every recluse.

He had no smiles to give away,
Just wandered around with nothing to say.
A sad old man—a life far spent,
He carried the sadness wherever he went.

One day his coffee supply got low,
And off to town he decided to go.
So he took his cane and his old dog "Trey,"
And down the mountain he wended his way.

The grocer advised him to try a new brand:
The Tastwel coffee—the best in the land.
The grade was better than he had been buying,
But nevertheless he thought it worth trying.

And it was'n long e'er a change took place,
A smile soon spread all over his face.
He was rapidly cured of his troubles and woes,
And now praises Tastwel wherever he goes.

The Second Prize.
H is for Harper of Tastwel fame,
A for Ability which gave it its name.
R for the Roasting which adds to its savor,
P for the People who are fond of its flavor.
E for the Enterprise launching it out,
R for the Reason we want it about.
S for the Storekeeper, obdient and stout.
T is for Tastwel, the coffee sublime,
A is for Anna who makes it so fine.
S for Sugar to make it quite sweet,
T for the Tray to serve it so neat.
W for Water to use in the making,
E for the Egg to clear before taking,
L for the Liquid, hot and thirst slaking.

C for Coffee prepared by our wife,
O is for Optimist—made so for life.
F is for Family, to Tastwel devoted,
F is for Fragrance, for which it is noted.
E for Effusion in praising its worth,
E for Enthusiasm o'er all the earth.

The Third Prize.
Once there was a man so poorly,
By the name of Reuben Guy.
He had doctored with good doctors,
And they said that he must die.
So one day the old man fainted;
On the table sat a tin.
And his wife in her excitement
Threw the contents into him.
She mistook it to be water,
For she meant to bring him through.
But it happened to be coffee,
Good old Tastwel Coffee, too.
All that kept the man from dying
Was the contents of that tin;
For he had his mouth wide open,
And the coffee all went in.
Some may think this too alluring,
Others say it is a lie;
But those doctors said that Tastwel
Saved the life of Reuben Guy.

Ohio Situation Is Free From Complications

Answer to August Belmont, Elihu Root and Norman Hapgood of New York has been made by the Ohio Commission for the Relief of European War Sufferers. These New Yorkers are the officers of the Committee of Mercy, which also seeks a national organization. The letter from here was designed to keep the Ohio situation free from complication. In part it said:

"Your letter to Hon. Frank B. Willis, Governor of Ohio has been referred to this Commission. We are all very much in sympathy with your work.

"The policy of this Commission seems to be in thorough accord with the objects of your Committee of Mercy.

"We have organized to give help to all war sufferers and in furthering that commendable work, we want to safeguard the charity of the people of Ohio and we also want to insist that money received in Ohio should be spent in this state for suitable supplies.

"We are quite determined about the last mentioned matter. There is plenty of opportunity for exercising benevolence in our state and we figure that the situation here may be helped somewhat if money received in this state is spent here.

"The immediate call for help comes from Belgium and accordingly we are receiving contributions for the relief of sufferers in that country.

"It is the policy of this Commission to accept contributions for noncombatant sufferers in other countries.
"We trust that you will see the necessity of centralized work in Ohio and that you will depend upon us for cooperation in this state."

FATHER ATTEMPTS TO DELAY SHERIFF

Ebensburg, Pa., April 28.—When Sheriff W. E. Mulhollen and a posse of ten deputies surrounded the Oshall farmhouse, near Coalport, at dawn this morning, and called on Wayne Oshall to come out and surrender, the man's 65-year-old father, Levi Oshall, climbed out on the porch, fired a shotgun at the sheriff, standing fifteen feet away, jumped to the ground and ran. He hoped to draw the posse away from the house so his son could escape. All the officers but two pursued Oshall. More than 100 shots were fired at the old man, none taking effect.

Reaching a fence, Oshall leaned his gun on the top rail and fired a load of buckshots into the hips of J. L. Berkebile, a Johnstown newspaper man. Then he escaped in the woods.

Back in the house County Detective Custer discovered Wayne Oshall climbing from an attic, following the old man's instructions to get away when he heard shots. The young fellow had two revolvers in his hands. As the detective aimed his pistol at Oshall's stomach, the boy's mother rushed into the room, seized the weapon, and shrieked, "Now!" to her son. Custer knocked her down just in time to cover young Oshall again, who dropped his guns.

Today's raid was a follow-up to one of last Thursday, when Sheriff Mulhollen and his son Walter were badly beaten in an attempt to arrest young Oshall. The boy and two sisters are in jail here.

HENRY SLICES ANOTHER MELON

New York, April 28.—Announcement of the slicing of another Ford melon of more than $16,000,000 was made tonight at the local office of the Ford Motor Company. This time the Ford purchasers are to be beneficiaries of the profit distribution.

Last year Mr. Ford said that the company would share its profits with its customers if its sales aggregated 300,000 cars between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915. Each customer was to receive $50.

It was stated at the Ford office tonight that assurances were now had that the 300,000 would be reached by August 1, next. Mr. Ford is quoted as follows:

"Barring the unforeseen distribution of $50 per customer since August 1, last, will take place a year from that date."

At present indications tonight it was said the sales would be $25,000. This would make the customers' dividend $16,250,000.

Freak Papers Result Of War

War is responsible for appearance on every battle front and in almost every fortress of a series of newspapers which, for obvious reasons, set quite a new style in journalism. In parts of northern France, where German troops are trying to get out German papers with French type cases, issues are already coming to be prized as curios in which the letter "v" has to be used for the "w" and the "q" for the "g," so common in German and so comparatively unusual in French. The "h" is frequently missing.

At points where troops are stationed for long periods it has been possible to make frequent use of the cartoon, and war has drawn into the ranks so many artists, writers and skilled tradesmen and printers that the resultant output is often astonishingly good.

All over Europe, especially in districts that have been conquered, there are being issued papers in the native language for the purpose of educating the civil population to the conqueror's viewpoint and of combatting the claims and statements of native papers. Many are printed in two languages. Business houses, banks and factories are publishing papers full of home news which they send to employees at the front.

FEDS IN GOOD FORM FOR GAME

With the best lineup possible, the Coshocton Federals will go into the game against New Philadelphia next Sunday afternoon at the Red Sea diamond, determined to make amends for the comparatively poor showing against the Cambridge-Byesville aggregation last Sunday.

Hook will start the game on the mound for the locals and it is probable that Williams will be used later in the game. Barry will probably be in the infield and Unger, whose batting of last Sunday was extremely good, is slated for the entire game.

A good practice was held at the diamond Wednesday night and the team is in much better form than it has been at any time this season.

Manager Brice requests all members of the team to attend the business meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at his office on the corner of Fifth and Walnut streets.

ROOSEVELT HAS STORMY SESSION

Is Ordered to Quit Smacking Fists by Judge.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 28.—Colonel Roosevelt spent his most tempestuous day on the witness stand today. After his cross-examination was concluded the former president explained in detail the contributions to the 1904 Republican campaign fund and his relations with "Boss" Platt.

Roosevelt said he was mistaken in testifying the contributions to his fund were $3,000,000. He asserted Chairman Cortelyou told him they were only $1,800,000.

Bitter clashes between the colonel, his counsel and Barnes' attorneys constantly occurred. Roosevelt was full of fire, snap and vim. He smacked his hands in cracking emphasis of his explanation that he worked with Platt only as far as his own conscience permitted.

"On certain points," said Roosevelt, "because of his wide knowledge, I found Mr. Platt's advice very valuable, of real and great value."

"My purpose in not breaking with the organization was to avoid disrupting the Republican party as long as I could by honorable action prevent it and also get affirmative right done at Albany," said the colonel, smacking his fist in his palm.

Attorney Ivins protested that Roosevelt be prohibited from such gesticulations. "They affect the minds of the jury," said Ivins, "although we can't control his vocal emphasis." The judge said the witness should testify in the ordinary manner.

Roosevelt said the organization's control of the senate, if he broke with them, would have blocked, if not prevented, getting any affirmative action.

PROPOSES LOWER RATE.

Cleveland Representative Wants Passenger Fares Reduced.

Columbus, April 28.—The house by a vote of 74 to 32 refused to kill the Thatcher 3 1/2 cent passenger fare bill, after a determined fight for indefinite postponement of the bill and ended by Representatives Young of Cuyahoga county, a Democrat, and Cromley of Knox county, a Republican. The vote on Young's motion was considered an indication that the bill will pass the house.

The Thatcher bill allows railroads to increase their fare to 2 1/2 cents a mile, and, on complaint, allows the utilities commission to suspend the rate pending investigation of its reasonableness. It puts the burden of proof on the public.

Young declared the plea for increased passenger fare, coming on top of the recent 5 per cent freight increase is "part of a nation-wide conspiracy by the railroads to mulct the people of this country."

Representative Young later introduced a bill reducing passenger fares in Ohio to 1 1/2 cents a mile.

WEST COMING HOME.

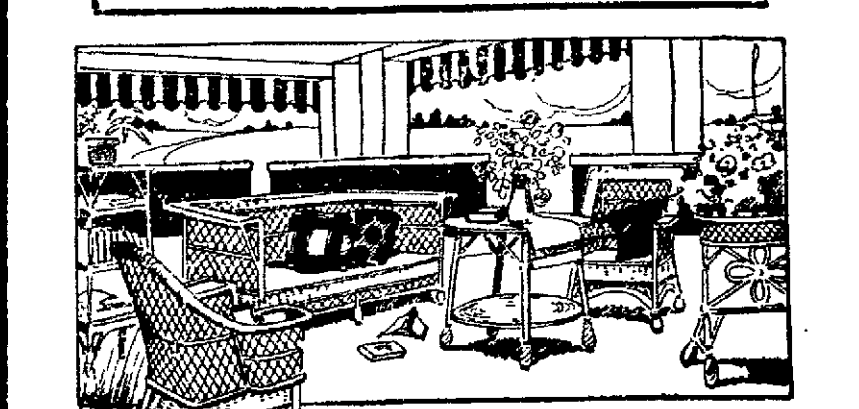

Will Tell President Wilson About Affairs in Mexico.

Washington, April 28.—Duval West, personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico, is on his way to the United States, according to advices to the state department. He left Mexico City for Vera Cruz aboard a special train provided by the Villa Zapata leaders and General Carranza. Mr. West will report to government officials here on the results of his conferences with the rival leaders in Mexico.

The appreciation of the United States government for the efficient manner in which Cardoso de Oliveira, Brazilian minister at Mexico City, has for the past year looked after American diplomatic interests in Mexico, has been conveyed in messages sent to him by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. The minister took charge of the American embassy following the severance of relations between the United States and the Brazilian government.

The West Bedford Cottage prayer meeting was held Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Edward Turner.

Celebrates Eighth Anniversary.

In celebration of his eighth birthday anniversary, Robert McClure Temple entertained a dozen of his little friends with a theatre and supper party Thursday evening. At seven o'clock the little folks chaperoned by Miss Kate McClure went to one of the picture shows and from there to the millinery store of the little host's aunt, Miss Louise McClure, where the remainder of the evening was spent. Here the supper table was arranged in a color scheme of pink and white. Pink shaded candles lighted the table on either side of the birthday cake which was lighted with eight pink candles. Surrounding the cake were paper flowers each filled with candy and extending from these were pink ribbons, which when pulled were found to be attached to a bag each containing a ball of jacks. Snapping notes were at each place and when opened were found to contain pretty paper caps which were worn by the little guests. After the ice and cakes had been served Japanese water flowers were dropped in each glass creating much amusement as they opened their petals in the water.

The guests were: William Wallace, Ruth Hanlon, Ruth Brant, Pauline Voorhees, Albert D. Reuter, Isaac Ross, Henry Custer, Walter Eaton, Dorothy Richards, Margaret Winters, William McGinnis and Laurie McClure.

Says Roses Fall in Love.

Philadelphia, April 25.—Professor Henry G. Walter, head of the Plant Research Institute of Langhorne, declares that roses fall in love. He says that the passion of the Kilmory for the crimson rambler is wholly sensual. "In fact," said the professor, "the love of a rose is the vitodynamic desire to bring about the physiological and chemical union of two rose cells, the desire of the rose cell for union is never governed by spiritual ideals or conscious moral standards." The professor added that if man loved as violently and recklessly as the roses the divorce courts would be running overtime.

How Bayonet Charges Are Made AbroadBY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

Flanders, March 31. (BY MAIL TO NEW YORK).—"Just how do they charge bayonets, any how?"

It was the American Red Cross nurse who asked the question. Her hard day's work at the first-aid hospital was done and she was sitting with some of her sisters and brothers at arms in the "living room" of a two thirds wrecked Flemish farmhouse whose yard stood barely above the far-reaching inundation.

"Not like you think," said the Col. "It isn't in a thousand times that they charge bayonets in the way the public supposes. Nobody would get out of such a melee alive if they did. Pictures showing thousands of soldiers busy sticking their bayonets through thousands of other soldiers are misleading generally speaking such fighting never, or rarely, takes place."

"For instance, imagine yourself a soldier. You are with a couple of hundred other soldiers of your company. Suddenly Andre, the soldier on your right, says to you in a low tone: 'Fix bayonets, pass the order! You tell Leon, the soldier on the other side of you.'

"Down the line the command makes its way. 'Oh damn!' says Leon very probably. 'Fix-a,' leaps the soldier next to Leon, 'I'd as leave absorb a German bullet as drawn here in mud!' The next fellow says 'Vive la France!' and the light shines in his eyes, the light of ardent patriotism. In short every man receives the command after his own fashion.

"And then what happens?" The American Red Cross girl's cheeks burned with excitement.

"It doesn't always happen the same way," the Colonel went on

"But usually the soldiers count off, one, two, Then all the No. 1 leap from the trench. The artillery has already 'prepared' for the attack by slamming shell after shell into the enemy's trenches in order to demoralize them, but as No. 1 is run forward, stooping very low, the No. 2s, still in the trenches are 'firing' at will, protecting the charge. A whistle blows. The No. 1s fall on their hands and knees behind any little natural protection they can find. If the object is really worth while, like a stump a foot in diameter, there is a regular scramble for it, I tell you! If there is no protection of any kind the soldier takes his soup spoon, usually already in his hand at such times as these, and digs a little hole in the soft, wet ground to stick his face and part of his head in. Now and then he lifts his head and shoots. 'Forward! Another dash!' comes the command, and under the bullets from the enemy's rifles the soldiers rise to a stooping position and run forward again. Or maybe they run forward on all fours. Back of them their own trench-mates are putting away at the Germans heads which show above the trench in front.

"So is this dash accomplished. When near the German position the No. 1s are reinforced by the No. 2s who clear the whole distance with one charge and then the final assault is made."

"I still don't see how your picture differs from the artists' pictures," the Red Cross nurse observed.

"It's like this," explained the Colonel. "Sometimes when the No. 1s get about half way the enemy's fire becomes so hot and so many of them killed that the remaining soldiers are ordered to retreat to the trenches they have just left. In so doing, of course, many more are killed but still this is better than to continue to certain death for all. But when their bayonets gleaming, the enemy almost always break and run before there is any actual collision. If the enemy cannot leave the trench and make a dash for safety, he usually holds up his hands and is taken prisoner. For you see if the charge is a complete success the men in the trenches, in a haven to band fight with bayonets, haven't much of a show with the fellow standing over their heads. They know they haven't much chance so if the charge bayonets proposition goes through to the finish the game's up before the bayonets actually tranfix the men's bodies.

"Sometimes though, odd things happen. Not long ago the English near here charged the German trenches and made it. When they got to close quarters they leaped down into the pits, threw their guns away and began to fight with fists for all they were worth. The English won, of course, for no European can handle his fists like you Americans or the English."

The American Red Cross girl didn't ask any more questions. One by one the beautiful illusions she conjured up were fading away. Instead of "Come on boys, follow me!" and other poetic words from the mouths of men as they swept forward against the enemy, it was more like "Oh hell! More work!" Instead of dashing forward, waving a sword, one dug one's way along with a soup-spoon and crawled like a worm. From the look on her face the girl wanted to resign and go home.

CHEER AMERICAN FLAG.

Steamer Ocmulgee Picks Up Seventeen Men Off Coast of Holland.

New York, March 30.—The steamer Ocmulgee arrived in quarantine from Bremen and was cleared by the health officer. While at anchor in the Hook of Holland the crew of the Ocmulgee was awakened by the cries of someone alongside. All hands were mustered and on investigation found a lifeboat with seventeen men, who it was afterward learned were survivors from the Norwegian steamer, Lord Stratford, which had hit a mine and was blown up. The men were taken on board, some of them only in their underclothes, and next morning set ashore. When leaving the vessel these men all took of their hats, bent on their knees and gave three cheers for the American flag, which Captain Hart dipped in salute.

AN UNHOLY ALLIANCE

One of the most prominent manufacturers in the middle west recently expressed the opinion that the only obstacle to American prosperity was the senseless pessimism of Wall street.

How senseless this pessimism is may be inferred from a statement credited to President Thomas of the Lehigh Valley railroad, who was reported recently to have said:

"The continued prosperity of the United States depends almost entirely upon what is done in Washington.

"I would authorize an expenditure of $10,000,000 tomorrow if the situation in Washington was clear.

"But the uncertainty of which I speak means that we must withhold this $10,000,000 expenditure for an indefinite period."

At the very time that Mr. Thomas was pouring forth this tale of woe, the Lehigh Valley railroad was advertising a quarterly dividend of 2 1/2 per cent on its common stock and 2 1/2 per cent on its preferred stock. A railroad that is paying 10 per cent dividends is not starving to death, whatever "the situation in Washington" may be.

There is no situation in Washington that is hostile to business. There has been no other time in ten years in which there was so little crusading against business or in which business had so little to fear from politics. There has been no time in ten years in which legitimate business could face the future with so little uncertainty. Yet Wall street continues to talk calamity, think calamity and dread calamity. When it might be making New York the financial center of the world, it spends its time conspiring against an administration that can not be bought or bullied.

The feeling is growing that Wall street wants no prosperity unless it can hog it all, and that the typical Wall street banker's idea of prosperity is 6 per cent for loans, with 5 per cent commission and 51 per cent of the common stock as a bonus.

Wall street's days of exploitation and gambling prosperity are done for. There will be no return to the period when the New York bankers could take the cream and leave the rest of the country drinking skim-milk. The dream of a revival of Hannaism, which is noted by the Washington correspondent of The World, is only a dream. It will never materialize.

We have no doubt that the reactionary Republican leaders are ready to sell their party out to Wall street again. They are all giving full voice to Wall street's calamity cry, and their general attitude toward government is anything-to-beat-Wilson. But that sort of thing can be easily overdone, and if the country is willing to throw away all the fruits of ten years of agitation to curb predatory plutocracy, the country's standard of intelligence is much lower than we have ever had reason to believe.

The Wilson administration is not warring on business, but some business is warring on the Wilson administration in an attempt to stampede the American people back to Hannaism. When the government at Washington is confronted by the most delicate and perplexing problems that have beset any administration since Lincoln's, and the country itself is distracted by the disturbing consequences of the greatest war in history, Plutocracy thinks it sees a chance to re-establish itself again in Washington for another reign of dollar-despotism.

If Wall street is not willing to accept the very reasonable restrictions to which business has been subjected and to keep step with the march of progressive legislation, one thing is certain. Its next great antagonist will not be the Democratic party, but socialism. There is no surer way of making socialism a living, breathing, vital force in American politics than the way the Republican-Wall-street coalition has adopted.

EIGHTH DAY ON WITNESS STAND
Roosevelt Concludes His Testimony In Libel Suit.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 29.—A bomb was thrown into New York and possibly national politics in the Barnes-Roosevelt libel trial. A proposal by Governor Whitman of an alliance of New York Progressives and progressive Republicans to rid the state of machine misgovernment was the coup sprung by the Roosevelt side. The colonel said he read the Whitman letter, written when Whitman was district attorney, and relied upon it in attacking Barnes during the 1914 primaries.

Roosevelt's testimony has been finally concluded. It was the eighth day he had been on the stand and when excused he had been under examination for thirty-eight hours and fifteen minutes. Before springing the Whitman letter, the colonel gave a dramatic recital of how he approved acquisition by the Steel trust of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company to stop the 1907 panic.

Gesticulating violently, smacking his fists and overriding, rough sound, objections of Barnes' counsel, he recited how he was told by steel magnates that the nation's financial structure was tottering and it was necessary to approve the steel merger and thus stop the panic by bolstering up Wall street.

The colonel also told how he had prosecuted big corporations despite their contributions to his presidential campaign fund.

The Whitman letter was written in February, 1914, to Charles H. Duell, Jr., of New York, and was shown to Roosevelt upon his return last May from South America. Roosevelt said he "relied" upon the statements in the letter in making the attack on Barnes, although Barnes and Murphy were not called by name in the letter.

THE DOG CAME BACK.

Owners' House Damaged by Dynamite Intended For Canine.

Indiana, Pa., April 28.—Deciding to get rid of his dog, George Verboos took it to a wood lot near his home in Jamison, fastened it to a tree and tied a stick of dynamite to its tail. Then Verboos darted behind another tree to watch the fun, expecting the dog to be blown to pieces. The dog had not been tied securely and broke loose, running toward its master. Verboos dashed for his home, the dog and its load of tremendous possibilities following. Verboos had scarcely reached his dwelling and slammed the door when the dog darted under the porch. The dancing stick of dynamite hit the porch floor and was discharged, wrecking the porch and part of the house. The dog was unhurt and a few moments later trotted to Verboos wagging its tail.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Logansport, Ind. — "My baby was over a year old and I bloated till I was a burden to myself."

I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pricking me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. I told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I would try it before I would submit to any operation. He did so and I improved right along. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine.

"I hope other suffering women will try your Compound. I will recommend it to all I know." — Mrs. DANIEL D. B. DAVIS, 110 Franklin St., Logansport, Ind.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

responded to by Nellie Camp, Miss Esther LeRitilly and Miss Minnetta Gillen played a piano duet and there were vocal solos by Miss Marguerite Haight and Miss Helen LeRitilly.

Superintendent J. E. Lyons gave a short but interesting talk and reading was given by Miss Anita Dobson.

Refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening spent socially. Forty-five members enjoyed the affair.

INDIANS HAVE LEGEND

Which Locates Garden of Eden in Mountains of Brazil.

Philadelphia, April 23.—Discovery of a tribe of Indians in the mountains between Brazil and Guinea, who have a new story of the Garden of Eden, is reported in a letter received from Dr. William C. Farabee, leader of the University museum Amazon expedition. These Indians' chief asset is a huge rock, much resembling the trunk of a tree. This, they said, the only and original tree of life. Their story of the Garden of Eden is this:

"In the beginning there were two brothers, who were gods. One was Duwid and the other was Tuminkar, who dreaded men and women and animals. Duwid provided the food, bringing fruit and vegetables. The people came upon a great tree bearing all sorts of food. Then they said: 'This is where Duwid gets the food. Let us come here and get it ourselves and we will not have to offer up thanks to him.'

"Next day they hunted up the god and told him not to bother about fetching them food, that they could take care of themselves. Duwid replied that he would compel them to work for their dinners, and announced that the tree would be cut down, but he offered them the chance to cut off as many branches as they chose. All that was required was to plant the branch and water it each day. The people planted a lot of the branches, but grew tired and said they had enough varieties. This is why there were so few varieties of fruits and vegetables in the world."

Walsh Calls Rockefeller A Big Liar

Kansas City, April 29.—"I call Rockefeller a liar," Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the industrial relations commissions, said today. "And in turn, Mr. Rockefeller calls me a liar, but we shall see. A mass of correspondence will prove conclusively that John D. Rockefeller has dodged the issue. It shows that he testified to untruths on the stand at the former hearing."

Mr. Walsh referred to private telegrams and letters in the hands of the commission which purport to show the close relations between the Rockefeller offices in New York and The Colorado Fuel & Iron Co.

All through the investigations into the strike conditions which cost the lives of men, women and children, Rockefeller has covered up. At least he has covered up through the press. He has hired his own publicity agents to handle the situation to the exclusion, as concerning the other side. Some editorial writers in New York protect him. Why? Because they bowed to money."

John D. Rockefeller, jr., will be recalled to the stand when the commission resumes its hearing on May 4 in Washington, Chairman Walsh said.

A STORY FROM KANSAS.

This story is going the rounds in northern Kansas papers: "Twenty years ago I bought a $2 pair of kid gloves. My salary was $18 a month and board. Five years later I found myself with a salary of $30 a month, one good wife, and both of us to feed and clothe. I bought myself a pair of $1 gloves. Five years later there were two children, my salary was

$75 a month and I found that a 50-cent pair of yarn mittens about fitted my case. Five years later, my salary had increased to $100 a month, my family numbered three besides myself and wife, and a pair of 25-cent mittens covered my hands. This year I find myself forty years old and drawing a salary of $125 a month, with four children, and one good old wife, and darn my skin,—I went down town and bought me a pair of cotton flannel gloves, 10 cents a pair, six pairs for 50 cents."

ALLIES CAPTURE TURK BATTALION

Constantinople Claims British Transport Destroyed.

hens, April 29.—Turkish regulars been defeated with very heavy and an entire Turkish battalion been captured in a battle between the British and a British landing party took possession of the coast the Gulf of Souvli, twenty-five from Sedd-el-Bahr, on the Galapagos peninsula.

Details of the operations of the allies along the Gallipoli peninsula show that the British forces are holding the European and the French the Asiatic side. They are advancing very slowly in parallel lines.

Up to the present the fighting has been confined to skirmishing, as the British are apparently waiting to choose their own battle ground. The British have established a main base in the shores of the Aegean sea and have entrenched a frontal line across the peninsula to Eski Hissarik.

British aviators who have reconnoitered are understood here to have reported the presence in front of their lines of a force of some 80,000 Turkish troops of all branches, heavily equipped with artillery. It is reported that the Turkish forces on both sides of the Dardanelles are commanded by German officers of high rank who have just arrived from the north battle front.

The troops are said to be so strongly entrenched that it will be impossible for the allies to advance except under the cover of the guns of their ships, which will make it essential that the forts along the Dardanelles be reduced.

tion of an allied transport off Gallipoli peninsula and defeat of the British forces landed at Gaba Tepeh are the chief features of an official statement issued at the war office.

Gaba Tepeh is the only point at which, according to previous official reports, the allies' land forces have succeeded in maintaining a foothold. The statement says that the enemy was driven back at Gaba Tepeh and that a large number surrendered to the Turkish troops.

MUST PACIFY MEXICO.

Conditions Under Which Carranza Government Will Be Recognized.

Washington, April 29.—Unofficial advice received here which said that General Carranza expected early recognition by the United States government attracted widespread attention in official and diplomatic circles here.

The Carranza authorities have been active recently in seeking recognition and it had been reported that they intended issuing a statement covering their intentions. The United States government, it is said, had been advised of the Carranza plans, although it was said at the state department that the question of recognition had not been formally considered.

The American government has unofficially indicated to the various factions in Mexico the general principle which would guide it in considering the question. It has been said that there would be no recognition until Mexico had been internally pacified by complete military domination by one faction or a peaceful agreement among the more important elements.

Reports of an impending battle between General Villa's army and General Obregon's Carranza forces continued to be circulated. General Villa's agents say that he has gathered an army of 25,000 men with thousands of rounds of ammunition for an attack. Unofficial advice received here said that Duval West, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, was due to arrive at Vera Cruz from Mexico City. It was expected that he would sail for the United States on Friday.

"The Greek government, which a short time ago refused the invitation of the entente powers to join the war, has now approached them with a proposal for Greece's definite co-operation. The allied powers, however, are not now so eager, especially as Greece demands much and offers little. The entente powers' reply was that unless Greece made more definite and satisfactory proposals, negotiations with her would be impossible."

CALAMITY HOWLERS

Given Lashing by Secretary Redfield in Indianapolis Speech.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 29.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield, in an address here, said of the people who have been talking of hard times:

"These purveyors of poverty for personal purposes will in due time go to their own places unwent, unimpaired and unsung, followed by the deserved curses of the deceived, falling into the limbo of the calamity howler, where long ago the muckraker preceded them. These are they who in secret places speak evil of those who have brought the country through the most terrible commercial shock in its history and landed her safe and strong upon the peaceful shores of prosperity and influence. I wait, therefore, for the early abandonment of this negative and feeble policy on the part even of those good men who may have been misled temporarily into this misbehavior. I look to them for better things and things which will more certainly accompany political salvation."

"The American public knows that it has had at the hands of the present administration affirmative and constructive service, and as it sees the days of prosperity returning and the military mills reopening and the miner and the farmer busier and more prosperous than before, it will say to these prophets of evil: 'What have you to offer better than the foundation on which these things are built?' It will have small patience with the howl of the wolves beside the track that has long since been traveled. It will look for the constructive services of men instead."

GAVE MONEY TO SAFFORD.

Witness Tells How Lawyer Got Hotel Clerk to Testify in Tanzer Case.

New York, April 29.—William H. Darling, a friend of Franklin D. Safford, the former hotel clerk who is on trial for alleged perjury for having identified James W. Osborne as the man who registered at the Kensington hotel, Plainfield, N. J., with Isaac Tanzer, testified that he had seen David Slade give Safford $23 or $24 and had also seen him pay Safford $15 for a taxicab bill.

Slade is the attorney who filed Miss Tanzer's suit for $50,000 for breach of promise against James W. Osborne. He and his brother Maxwell have been indicted for conspiracy for their connection with the case, and Benjamin Slade, a third brother, is defending Safford.

Darling was arrested in Midlands, Pa., last Friday as a material witness. He said that after the Tanzer suit was filed he got a letter from Safford, and he, David Slade and Albert J. McCullough went to Greenwood Lake and found the hotel clerk, who viewed a photo of James W. Osborne and said that "from the neck down" Mr. Osborne looked like the

Thin Men and Women

Here's a Safe Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs. of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your blood instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they reach the starved shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Wimmer-Arnold Drug Co., and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder.

NOT IN ACCORD WITH SYLVIA.

Christabel and Mother Pankhurst Think Germany Should Be Beaten.

Paris, April 29. — Christabel Pankhurst, in a letter to the Temps, says that she and her mother are not at all in accord with her younger sister, Sylvia, with regard to the woman's peace congress at The Hague. "It is mother and I," Miss Pankhurst writes, who direct the policy of suffragettes in Great Britain, my sister belonging to a distinct and separate movement. We, my mother and I, share the ideas of Juliette Adam and other French women in believing that the war should be pursued until German militarism has been destroyed and German domination of Europe has become impossible."

OHIO WOMAN HAD BAD STOMACH

Mrs. Perkins Finds Swift Relief After First Dose of Wonderful Remedy.

Mrs. W. E. Perkins of Point Place, R. F. No. 7, Toledo, suffered for a long time from stomach troubles. She felt bad most of the time and she could hardly ever find anything to eat that would agree with her.

She took May's Wonderful Remedy and was surprised at the sudden restoration that followed. She wrote:

"I have been taking your remedy and it has done me so much good and I am so much better that I am eating most any and everything that I used to years ago before I knew what stomach trouble was. I am thankful that I heard of your wonderful medicine."

May's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating. Pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfied, your money will be returned.

HUNDREDS DRIVEN INSANE IN BATTLE

Germans Use Big Guns in Drive to North Sea Coast.

London, April 29.—Halted in their drive against Ypres and positions along the canal, the German troops in Flanders have shifted their attack farther west to the front between Dixmude and Nieuport. Their heavy artillery is bombarding towns held by the Belgians along a front of fifteen miles.

Despite the fact that they are undergoing this attack west of Dixmude the Belgian army, co-operating with the French, is continuing its offensive on the Ypres canal. The Belgian legation announced that King Albert's troops are attacking Steenstraete, the town from which the Germans launched their advance to Lierne. Only to be driven back to the canal.

The Germans are shelling Ramscapelle, Pervyse, Lampernisse and Oostepere. They are said to be using several of their seventeen inch guns in an attempt to blast their way through the Belgian lines.

In the Ypres region a great artillery duel is in progress, the British trying to clear the way for infantry attacks to regain the ground won by the Germans in their first attacks, and the Germans attempting to prevent the concentration of allied forces for such attacks.

Under the fire of German artillery five little towns near Ypres have been transformed into heaps of smoking ruins. Reports from their airmen that troops were concentrating at any point were a signal for a terrific bombardment that levelled houses and tore great holes in the streets.

In this way they successfully wrecked St. Julien, Vlamertinghe, Brielen, Wicte and St. Jean. The strain upon the allied troops at the front during the artillery battle has been terrific. Hundreds have been driven insane.

Among the chief sufferers are the Canadian troops, whose gallantry saved the British from disaster when the Germans began their drive.

Several companies of the Canadians have been relieved by British reserves, but most of them have had to stay at the front because the German's steady bombardment makes it impossible to shift troops in the first line. Where the firing is heaviest the Canadians have burrowed into the ground for protection.

DIED BY HIS OWN HANDS.

Coroner Claims Miss Wheeler Could Not Have Killed Young Cowl.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 29.—That Arthur Hearn Cowl, twenty-two, son of E. C. Cowl, a merchant of New York city, came to his death at the home of Arthur De Forest Wheeler in Stratford, through a gunshot wound, self-inflicted with suicidal intent while in a state of mental unsoundness, was the opinion of Coroner Phelan, who made a brief but thorough examination and set at rest the public clamor for his inquiry into the strange case. That Miss Emily Wheeler could not possibly have pulled the trigger of the revolver by means of the small ribbon attached to the trigger and that she is entirely absolved from any blame or connection with the actual shooting, was stated by Coroner Phelan.

From tests conducted by the coroner he found that the ribbon broke before the trigger of the revolver moved and he is confident that Cowl himself pulled the trigger with his finger, although making the girl believe that she did it with the ribbon. No further inquiry will be made.

In a statement, Coroner Phelan says he finds that there was no estrangement between Miss Wheeler and Cowl, and that the story about the engagement being broken off and the ring returned is all "moonshine."

POPULAR IN WEST.

Congressman Fitzgerald Says Wilson Will Be Renominated.

Washington, April 29.—Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, arrived here from a visit to the Panama exposition, via Panama. The Brooklyn member paid a brief visit to the White House and talked with Secretary Tamm, but did not see the president. He expressed the opinion that the administration was popular in the west, particularly in California.

"Sentiment in the west among the Republicans has not crystallized for any particular candidates," said Mr. Fitzgerald. "In the state of Washington I discovered unusual turmoil among Republican regulars over the return to the party of Senator Poinsett, ex-Bull Moose. They appeared to resent his coming back and immediately running for re-election."

Mr. Fitzgerald expressed the opinion that President Wilson would be renominated.

Culebra Cut Is No More.

Washington, April 29.—Culebra cut, famed in song and story in connection with the construction of the Panama canal, is no more. By a stroke of the pen President Wilson changed the name to Galliard cut as a mark of respect to the late Colonel Galliard, who had immediate charge of the construction of this most difficult section of the canal, and whose death was due to hard work and exposure incident to his official duties there.

Zanesville, O., April 29.—More than 1,000 city and country road boosters improved 22½ miles of roads in Muskingum county in a two days' campaign, resulting in ten times as much good as the campaign last year. The Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary club and other civic organizations backed the movement.

Truck Crops Need Rain.

Washington, April 29.—The longest early spring drought in more than forty years now exists over the most eastern sections of the country, the national weekly weather forecast and crop bulletin announced. Cotton and truck crops in the eastern part of the south are suffering for lack of rain, but in the great wheat and corn sections of the middle west the weather of the last week has been unusually favorable. In the far western states the outlook for fruits of all kinds continues promising.

Urges Country to Make Own Munitions of War

BY ALICE ROHE.
United Press Staff Correspondent

Rome, April 24.—(By Mail to New York)—"The uniting of Montenegro with Serbia under one king, the formation of a greater Serbian kingdom including the countries as well as Herzegovina, Bosnia, Dalmatia, the southern portion of Hungary peopled by Slavs will be the outcome of the war so far as it affects us Slavs—and established commerce with America."

Eugenio Popovich consul general for Montenegro at Rome did not make the asserting the form of a hope but as an assurance of a fact.

"The interest of America is the only doubtful part," he continued "but with our vision country only wanting to be developed we are hoping that America, where already we have over 36,000 Montenegrans, will be the nation to accept our offers for development options."

His Excellency indignantly denied the "tamped up stories" of Montenegrin cruelty to captured Austrian soldiers, "he dwelt upon the suffering in his native land, which had called forth the letter from the Bishop of Antivari to Americans in Rome and other European cities, asking for help for the 'starving, suffering mountaineers.' That Montenegro is fighting for nothing more than her life—her salvation from Austrian oppression—was his assertion.

"We have no political or territorial greed to be satisfied," he continued. "We prove this when we are willing to merge ourselves in Serbia. We are all of the same race, we Montenegrans and Serbians; our two Kingdoms are descended from the same family. The daughter of King Nicholas is the present Queen of Serbia and our future will be united. This will be after the death of the two present kings of Serbia and Montenegro, respectively. A single king will then rule us all under the name of Serbia. This war has made blood speak louder than ever and we Slavs realize that our own development depends upon union."

The Montenegrin legation at Rome, unlike the embassies of other countries tells of the sacrifice every individual of that mountainous is making in the present war.

Anti-suffragists, with their arguments that if women would vote they should be ready to accept military duty and the repeated assertion that usurpation of masculine vocations unites women for motherhood would be enlightened to look into the self-sacrificing lives of those "primitive" Montenegrin women. Woman's first duty in Montenegro is motherhood—indeed the supplying of sons as the country's soldiers is her sacred mission. That woman who bears the most sons is the most highly respected, says His Excellency, and Montenegrin families run as high as fifteen and twenty children. And yet, as the Consul General says, in war the "female of the species is more deadly than the male."

"In the last two wars and the present one we have lost 1,000 women who fell on the battlefield fighting with cold steel soldiers," said Consul General Popovich. "While less active as soldiers in the present war, due to the fact that battles have not been carried into our own country, the women are constantly on the firing lines."

They are the one and only means of carrying supplies to the army. Food, ammunition, all depends upon the women. You see this war is a far more intimate thing to us than in lands where politics and diplomacy rise above actual needs. One glance at our half naked soldiers, freezing and hungry,—supported by self sacrificing women, is a vital proof of this. "And think of the women and children in Herzegovina who have been murdered by the Austrians!"

"We have sent a call to America and had negotiated with English vessels to bring our Montenegrin sons back home. Now we are negotiating directly with America in the hopes that soon our depleted army will be reinforced. The Montenegrins in America are settled in California and around Boston. Some of them have become rich. A number have become American citizens but the rich and the poor are sending what they can, back to their native land. We have lost 20,000 men in the three wars and that is a big per cent of our population. Forty doctors have only recently been killed so that even this aid to the wounded has been removed."

"This continued talk of an Austrian-Hungarian second attack upon Serbia is nonsense. They will never try again. It is only a blind to cover up their frantic preparation to defend Hungary. Naturally, knowing Montenegro is weaker than Serbia, the oppressors are anxious to get into our kingdom, but that is a difficult proposition."

"We Montenegrans have been greatly disappointed at Italy's attitude," said Consul General Popovich. "We expected Italy's help not only on account of a supposed sympathy but because of the fact that the Queen of Italy is the daughter of King Nicholas of Montenegro. Austria's dominance in Italy seems complete, however, Italy lives in terror of Austria."
